Planning Consultant Sees 'Boulevard' Aid To County Traffic

New Roads and Highways 'Needed at Once,' Expert Says

DOYLESTOWN, June 4 — Declaring that the highway problem in Bucks county has a dual approach, Carl W. Wild, planning consultant, at a meeting of the Bucks County Planning Commission yesterday here said: "The problem must be aproached not only from the new ones but also from the idea of protecting existing roads."

Speaking to Howard M. Barnes, chairman; John L. Stover, Thomas B. Stockham, III, Harold N. Crooker and William S. Erwin, Wild said: "In view of general and regional population trends, the availability of residential and industrial land, and a likely gravitation toward this part of the county, a possible population increase from 82,417 in 1950 to 180,000 in 1970 must be considered in any projection of future needs.

"As the full effect of these changing conditions is yet to be felt and to be proven, we can only assume needs that are reasonably predictable.

"First, those which can be expected as a result of development now underway and definitely planned; second, on a long range basis, those which would result if and when anticipated trends in development materialize.

"Because of this, actual construction of highways is not proposed until fully justified by conditions and proven needs. It is proposed, however, that steps be taken now to protect future rights of way so these roads can be built at a min-

The commission was set up about a year ago by the Falls supervisors. Howard Pleish is secretary of the zoning commission, and other members are James P. Doheny, John Doblebower and Charles Simon.

190,000 Seen Here By 1960; New Zoning Laws Are Urged

Planning Commissioners See Dissatisfaction With Trash Removal

DOYLESTOWN, June 4—Wilbur Webb, submitting a report on refuse collection and disposal, at a meeting of the Bucks County Planning Commission, said questionnaires covering present refuse practices were sent out to 22 designated political subdivisions in Lower Bucks county.

Responsible persons for the most part were satisfied with existing refuse collection practices but were dissatisfied with existing refuse disposal practices.

Most boroughs had their refuse collected by private contractors under municipal contracts. In Lower Bucks in 1952, the municipal contract cost the householder approximately one-half as much on the average as did the individual householder contract.

Only one borough of all the included communities collected refuse by municipal forces and this was limited to rubbish.

Most of the garbage was disposed of by feeding of the uncooked swill to hogs. The balance was disposed of in unsightly, vermin-infested, open dumps. Open-burn-

Newportville Youth Held After 75-MPH Police Chase

Car Crashes Through St. Mark's Cemetery Hedge In Wild Ride

The 19-year-old driver of the car that led borough police on an early morning chase through Bristol yesterday morning was held for court at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Ed Lynn, 422 Mill street, last night.

Thomas F. Vaughn, of Lower Creek road, Newportville, was held without bail for violation of his parole, and under $500 bail on charges of reckless driving, failing to stop for a flashing red traffic light, and failing to stop for a police officer. Vaughn pleaded guilty to the charges.

Vaughn was given the hearing after he was picked up by borough police after his car crashed through the hedge of St. Mark's Cemetery near Jefferson avenue.

Patrolmen William Bolton and Matthew Bragg first encountered the youths at Pond and Lafayette streets where according to Bragg, they were making excessive noise.

When police pulled up behind the parked car, the boys raced down Pond street to start a 75-mile per hour chase through the Jefferson avenue-Canal street section of the borough.

Bragg at one point got out of the police car to head off the racing car but, he said, he was nearly knocked down by the youths who refused to obey his order to stop.

After the youth's car crashed into the cemetery hedge, police loaded the group into the police car and took them to the Municipal building. The passengers of the car were released.

INDIVIDUAL STUDENT

How to accommodate mass education to the wide variations in talents, desires, tastes and capacities of individuals is a problem of the times that besets the wisest educators. President Dodds of Princeton is critical of public schools for not giving sufficient attention, as he asserts, to these basic differences.

Mass, when it comes to education, is relative. There are large private schools where it is not evident that the individual student receives specialized attention as to curriculum, progress in studies and so on. Nor is the talented student in public schools unrecognized.

No doubt at Princeton, with its present large enrollment, it is difficult to give as much consideration to the individual student as it was several decades ago, when there were fewer students, and requirements as to studies were stricter.

Public discussion of these problems occurred at an alumni meeting in New York the other night of Loomis School, a private institution in Connecticut. The new headmaster, Francis O. Grubbs, made an eloquent and persuasive plea for the teaching of the humanities at the high school level. He said few educators have been willing to recognize the importance of high school years, all the more so since colleges were discarding many liberal arts courses in favor of technical subjects.

Said Mr. Grubbs:

"It brings us to a new definition or a new set of goals: to teach our young people how to think rather than what to think; to give them a real understanding of and respect for the past; to provide them with a basic familiarity with the world around them; to introduce them to the infinite inspiration and solace and enchantment derived from friendship with beauty in music, art and literature; and finally to give them a spiritual thread to tie things together."

These are noble standards, to which all educators of youth of high school age might well give consideration.

WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, June 4.

Every citizen has a duty to cooperate with his government in peace or war.

Yet, in increasing numbers, so-called patriots are refusing to talk to committees of Congress or Federal and State Grand Juries. Most plead possible self-incrimination under the Fifth Amendment. These include suspected gangsters, gamblers and Communists, or those who indulged in or have knowledge of bribes or payoffs during previous administrations.

For this reason the American public is entitled to know in detail what is and is not self-incrimination and why those who exercise it feel immune to punishment.

In essence the Fifth Amendment says that no person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. Initially this was confined to court proceedings but various legal decisions have broadened the meaning to include appearance before quasi-judicial bodies, such as committees of Federal or State governments.

When a citizen receives a subpoena to appear before a grand jury, a court or a legislative committee, he is required to give testimony. It is his duty to do so, but in recognizing the need of subpoena power to force the appearance of a witness suspected of wrong-doing, it also was considered necessary to provide certain protections for those called to the witness chair.

For this reason our Bill of Rights also includes the Sixth Amendment, which contains the provision that a witness has the right to compel by subpoena the appearance of witnesses in his favor.

The mere fact that a person does not approve of a congressional committee or a grand jury proceeding is not grounds for invoking the privilege of self-incrimination. Nor, as it is commonly believed, can a witness employ his privilege in packets by talking about some phases of the matter under investigation and shunning other facets.

Thus a witness who testifies in part about his Communist or criminal activity without invoking the Fifth Amendment, cannot draw a legal line of silence on other phases. The United States Supreme Court has affirmed convictions of individuals who talked enough before grand juries or congressional committees to get a foot in the door, but refused to push the door open all the way.

Congressional committees and federal grand juries usually have failed to cite such witnesses for contempt and few have gone to jail on this hairline distinction of what is or is not self-incrimination.

Recently a witness before a congressional committee admitted past Communist party affiliations, but refused on grounds of self-incrimination to name those who served in the party with him or enticed him into the rat race initially. Legal authorities cite precedents proving that the witness could not invoke the Fifth Amendment in refusing answers on this score. The congressional committee let him get away with it, however.

As a further protection under the Fifth Amendment a witness is not required to prove he is guilty in order to explain how his answer might be self-incriminating. The congressional committee must accept his word that it will. Only a judge or jury can decide when a witness has reached the joint of self-incriminating peril in his testimony.

Because of the Fifth Amendment, police and investigative agencies of the government have been forced into developing highly skilled investigative techniques in order to convict criminals and Communists. They have to hunt for evidence of guilt instead of dredging it out of suspects by endless grilling or violence.

Such agencies as the FBI and competent police forces in large cities have basic advantages over congressional investigators, both from the standpoint of size and experienced help. Many of the professional investigative agencies, however, are handicapped because certain evidence is inadmissible in court. Wire-tap evidence is the major example, especially in cases involving Communist espionage.

The Justice Department now is pleading with Congress for legislation to legalize wire-taps in certain instances. No one wants the Fifth or Sixth Amendment revoked. Nor is there any desire, except on the part of the Communist party, to clutter up our courts with endless legal wrangles over hairline interpretations of these amendments.

The thing to do is strengthen the investigative techniques of the police, the FBI and congressional investigative staffs. This can be done without imperiling our liberties. Congressional approval of the admissibility of wire-tap evidence is the first step.

London Beauty Expert Calls Woman's Beauty, "Myth"

LONDON—(INS)—London beauty expert William T. McGill is a courageous man. The beauty of woman, he says, is nothing but a myth—an illusion created mainly by man.

McGill is master of the British Incorporated Guild of Hairdressers, Wigmakers and Perfumers. At the Guild's annual meeting he said:

"In the animal kingdom, the male struts around with the fine feathers and the female is the dowdy partner.

"And when you boil it down, the human female is about as dowdy as her animal counterpart.

"It was man, always happy to try to improve on nature, who gave woman her fine feathers. He made her clothes, created hat fashions for her, made her jewelry and cosmetics. And it is the hairdresser that finishes what has been started with a hair style that suited her.

"When woman has all those fine feathers created by man, then the myth of woman's beauty is really exploded."

Doylestown Pilot Meets Gen. Doolittle---Again

Chance Reunion Occurs At United Services Federation Meeting

A chance reunion of two men who have known each other for many years occurred recently when Captain E. W. Rounds, U. S. N., of near Doylestown, ran across General James H. Doolittle.

Captain Rounds and Adrian P. Hoffman, executive director of the Bucks County United Services Federation, were attending the two-day Campaign Leaders Conference at Dayton, Ohio, when the meeting took place.

General Doolittle is campaign chairman of the United Defense Fund and vice-president of the Shell Oil Company.

Captain Rounds and General Doolittle had first met some years ago at Mitchel Field, Long Island, when both men were doing flying for the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics.

Captain Rounds was chosen by the Navy to fly planes in a safe aircraft competition staged by the Fund. The $100,000 award was won by the Curtiss company. At one time, Rounds was in charge of flight testing for the Navy.

PITTSBURGH, April —(INS)— Once a laboratory curiosity, zirconium — newest wonder metal — is being used by Westinghouse in sizeable quantities to construct the nation's first atomic submarine engine. Company scientists perfected a method of mass-producing the strong, corrosion-resistant material in a 99.9 percent pure state.

WASHINGTON, April —(INS)— A spokesman for the U. S. aircraft industry says that the American aircraft industry has virtualy completed its scheduled expansion under the limited emergency program established by the Government following outbreak of the Korean War. Admiral DeWitt C. Ramsey, President of the Aircraft Industries Association, said that plane plants, supported by some 61,000 subcontractors and suppliers, are producting military craft at the rate of about 1,000 each month.

INDIVIDUAL STUDENT

How to accommodate mass education to the wide variations in talents, desires, tastes and capacities of individuals is a problem of the times that besets the wisest educators. President Dodds of Princeton is critical of public schools for not giving sufficient attention, as he asserts, to these basic differences.

Mass, when it comes to education, is relative. There are large private schools where it is not evident that the individual student receives specialized attention as to curriculum, progress in studies and so on. Nor is the talented student in public schools unrecognized.

No doubt at Princeton, with its present large enrollment, it is difficult to give as much consideration to the individual student as it was several decades ago, when there were fewer students, and requirements as to studies were stricter.

Public discussion of these problems occurred at an alumni meeting in New York the other night of Loomis School, a private institution in Connecticut. The new headmaster, Francis O. Grubbs, made an eloquent and persuasive plea for the teaching of the humanities at the high school level. He said few educators have been willing to recognize the importance of high school years, all the more so since colleges were discarding many liberal arts courses in favor of technical subjects.

Said Mr. Grubbs:

"It brings us to a new definition or a new set of goals: to teach our young people how to think rather than what to think; to give them a real understanding of and respect for the past; to provide them with a basic familiarity with the world around them; to introduce them to the infinite inspiration and solace and enchantment derived from friendship with beauty in music, art and literature; and finally to give them a spiritual thread to tie things together."

These are noble standards, to which all educators of youth of high school age might well give consideration.

Levittown Civic Ass'n To Clean Watts House As Community Center

LEVITTOWN, June 3—Members of the Levittown Civic Association will roll up their sleeves Saturday, collect buckets, brooms, mops, soap, and brushes, and convert the former Watts house into a Community Center.

The house, a yellow structure on Tullytown - Fallsington road north of the Exhibition Center, has been donated to the Association by Levitt & Sons, Inc. The Association's house committee, under the direction of "Al" Kohli, 74 Shepherd lane, will give the house a complete cleaning and some needed repairs.

Among the renovations needed are: electrical work; removal of partitions; an exit door and exit lights; floor repairs; painting, screens and plastering. Materials have been donated for the project, but more are needed, Kohli said. The Levittown Garden Club has announced their intention to care for the lawn, shrubs and trees.

On the committee with Kohli are Edward Hough, president of the Association, and Mrs. Hough; Paul R. Backert, former president; Arthur L. Davis, Red Hatt, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Korson; Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich Frank; Dan O'Reily and Alexander Polett.

ing of refuse with its accompanying ill-smelling smoke and smog was practiced.

Several boroughs operate their own dumps.

Three contracts used closed trucks of the load-compression type.

The 1950 population of Lower Bucks was 82,417. The population at the beginning of 1953 is 115,000, and 1960 it will be between 170,000 and 190,000 persons.

Sanitary landfill is recommended as the disposal method to be practiced for all refuse in the immediate future.

It is estimated, Wilbur Webb pointed out, on the basis of suitable existing open land and on population growth projections, that sanitary landfill would be the most economical manner in which to dispose of garbage and rubbish while still protecting the public's health and eliminate nuisance factors.

This would continue to be a fact for at least ten years and is true from the standpoints of both capital improvement costs and operating budget. An incinerator plant costs three to four times the land and equipment required for a sanitary landfill operation of equal capacity and the operational cost of disposal by incineration is at least twice that of the disposal by sanitary landfill, he said.

The refuse disposal operation should be practiced on a functional region basis so that each operation is of sufficient size to utilize required equipment most economically.

From a population-concentration standpoint, it appears that two disposal areas should be established with one including Falls and the Makefield townships plus portions of Bristol, Newtown, Middletown and Wrightstown townships together with the boroughs encompassed by this area and with the other including the balance of the townships and boroughs in Lower Bucks.

In sanitary landfill a single operator with a large bulldozer can adequately take care of the refuse from 45,000 people while it would take three operators for three separately-acting communities of 15,000 each.

It is recommended that low and swampy land be used for sanitary landfill as part of a regional land reclamation project.

A planned program of sanitary landfill should be established which will allow the landfill operation to take place progressively from one political subdivision to the next until all have participated by using land within their own boundaries.

The collection of refuse should be performed by private contractors under functional-area contracts with the municipalities.

British Discover 'Foolproof' Method of Protecting Trees

LONDON—(INS)—British scientists have discovered what they believe to be a fool proof method of protecting fruit trees from spring frosts.

The Horticulture Research Station at East Malling, Kent county, after 16 years of experiments believes the answer is a "water-spray."

Dr. W. S. Rogers, head of the department of Pomology (science of fruit growing) declared that trees and plants should be sprinkled—the water being allowed to form icicles, which prevent the frost from harming buds and blossom.

Rogers explained that as water cools to freezing point it gives out heat. He said that 2,000 gallons of water at freezing point, turning to ice, produce as much heat as 16 gallons of boiling water.

Already some Kent county fruit growers have installed sprinkler systems, but complain of the high initial capital outlay.

Dr. Rogers' only answer to this is that an orchard, like a house, cannot be heated cheaply.

LONDON — (INS) — Henry Pitstow, a London cashier, will lead a team of eight bellringers in one of the toughest jobs of their bell-tolling careers on Coronation day June 2. For three hours the team will ring a peal of 5,040 changes at Westminster Abbey, where Queen Elizabeth will be crowned.

ing of refuse with its accompanying ill-smelling smoke and smog was practiced.

Several boroughs operate their own dumps.

Three contracts used closed trucks of the load-compression type.

The 1950 population of Lower Bucks was 82,417. The population at the beginning of 1953 is 115,000, and 1960 it will be between 170,000 and 190,000 persons.

Sanitary landfill is recommended as the disposal method to be practiced for all refuse in the immediate future.

It is estimated, Wilbur Webb pointed out, on the basis of suitable existing open land and on population growth projections, that sanitary landfill would be the most economical manner in which to dispose of garbage and rubbish while still protecting the public's health and eliminate nuisance factors.

This would continue to be a fact for at least ten years and is true from the standpoints of both capital improvement costs and operating budget. An incinerator plant costs three to four times the land and equipment required for a sanitary landfill operation of equal capacity and the operational cost of disposal by incineration is at least twice that of the disposal by sanitary landfilll, he said.

The refuse disposal operation should be practiced on a functional region basis so that each operation is of sufficient size to utilize required equipment most economically.

From a population-concentration standpoint, it appears that two disposal areas should be established with one including Falls and the Makefield townships plus portions of Bristol, Newtown, Middletown and Wrightstown townships together with the boroughs encompassed by this area and with the other including the balance of the townships and boroughs in Lower Bucks.

In sanitary landfill a single operator with a large bulldozer can adequately take care of the refuse from 45,000 people while it would take three operators for three separately-acting communities of 15,000 each.

It is recommended that low and swampy land be used for sanitary landfill as part of a regional land reclamation project.

A planned program of sanitary landfill should be established which will allow the landfill operation to take place progressively from one political subdivision to the next until all have participated by using land within their own boundaries.

The collection of refuse should be performed by private contractors under functional-area contracts with the municipalities.

Guest Day Program for Club To Be in Form of Musical

The final meeting of the Travel Club for the present season will be held Friday afternoon in the club home, Cedar street. It will be a guest day and the program will be in the form of a musical. Mrs. John A. Moyer, chairman of the music committee, will be in charge. There will be both piano and vocal numbers by two well-known artists, Miss Kathryn Bernard and Miss Elizabeth Rogers.

The hostesses will be Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., and Mrs. Oscar E. Norbeck.

Miss Bernard is a young lyric soprano, and a graduate of the New Jersey College for Women, New Burnswick, N. J. She has had extensive experience with New Jersey and New York opera and oratorio companies. In addition to two summers' (scholarship) attendance at the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood, working with Hugh Ross and Boris Goldovsky, Miss Bernard has studied with Queena Mario and Charles Baker, the opera coach and repertoire coach respectively. She is a member of the Schola Cantorem of New York city and is on the faculty of Trenton Conservatory of Music.

LEST WE FORGET

How often do we think of the conflict in Korea? It is not officially called war, but men are fighting as they do in war. They are dying as they do in war. How often do we remember them? They are our relatives, friends, and fellow countrymen.

We owe them a debt of gratitude for their service to us. One sure way that we can repay them is to pray for them. It will take a very small part of the twenty-four hours we have each day, to say a prayer for those who are fighting for and those who were wounded for our country, and one prayer for the happy repose of the souls of those who died for us.

Let us borrow Tennyson's sharp language to remind us of our obligation:

"For what are men better than sheep or goats
That nourish a blind life within the brain,
If knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer
Both for themselves and those who call them friend?"

Stock and Big Car Drivers to Compete In Langhorne Race

LANGHORNE — Co-promoters Captain Sherman "Red" Crise and Ed Otto have announced that it will be possible for every recognized driver of big cars as well as stock cars to compete in the "200-mile International" scheduled for the world famous Langhorne Speedway, Sunday afternoon, June 21.

It will not be necessary for the drivers to be a registered member of NASCAR, as temporary permits will be issued by that great organization for the great stock car classic which will feature the cream of American made stocks against foreign entries. This decision will lift the barrier and as a result open the door for every qualified driver in the Nation, regardless of affiliations, to compete in the 200-mile grind around the Bucks County oval.

Dick Passwater, spectacular young speedster from Indianapolis, was among the latest to submit an entry for the classic. This 27-year old negotiator of the late model stock is only in his second season of NASCAR competition and already he has established himself as one of the top contenders in the popular sport. In the Raleigh, N. C. Grand National staged on Memorial Day, Passwater was in the thick of the battle and when the checkered flag dropped on the grind had his stock sedan in sixth spot.

Fonty Flock, winner of the Raleigh event, will be gunning for the first win in Langhorne since 1950. Fonty was among the first to submit an entry for the International race and when so doing predicted a triumph for himself.

Several of the top pilots in late model stock car racing have an important decision to make during the next week; many have been offered foreign mounts for the Langhorne grind and now have to decide whether to stay with the job that has kept them in contention or switch to a fast foreign entry. Several have expressed a desire to pilot mounts that have established great records in European road racing but as yet have not made known their decision.

It was the fourth straight win for Vito Delia's lads and the sixth straight loss for No. 6's.

Jerry Crosby made the only safe blow off Schurr, a single in the third inning. In four games pitched, Schurr has permitted six hits.

Rallying for two runs in the eighth inning, Jefferson A. C. held on to second place in the Bristol Softball League by beating Kaiser Metal, 6-5, on Memorial field.

The aircraft workers had a one-run lead going into the last half of the eighth. Al Ciambella started the ball rolling with a single down the left field foul line. Sagolla hit to center, the ball going past Lou Sassi for a triple, scoring Ciambella. Lou Palumbo squeezed Sagolla across the plate with what proved to be the winning run.

Johnny Ciambella was the winning moundsman with George Wallace, the loser. Jefferson had 9 hits with Kaiser getting 7. Frank Writer, of Jefferson, drove in a pair of runs with a double in the fifth while Vince DiTanna sent two across for the Kaisermen with a two bagger in the seventh.

PENNSBURY TOPS NESHAMINY

LANGHORNE, June 4 — Pennsbury High stopped the eight-game winning streak of Neshaminy High yesterday on the winner's field. Final score was 7-1. Dave Gerard was the winning pitcher with the defeat going to Tony Peale. Neshaminy, Lower Bucks County champions, won 11 and lost 3 during the season.

Hawks Top V. F. W., 5-4, For Little League First

The Hawks moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Little League by triumphing over V. F W., 5-4, last evening on the Rohm & Haas field. It was the fifth win of the season for the Hawks.

Joe Bonner, of the Hawks, was robbed of a home run in the fifth by a sensational catch by Kelly, centerfielder for VFW, who made the catch while leaning against the fence.

Good fielding by both teams kept the score down. Bonner was the winning pitcher and the loss went to Qualteria.

Tuesday evening, the V.F.W. boys handed the Giants their fifth straight loss by a 3-2 score. Manzo was the winning twirler with the defeat going to Lewinsky.

imum cost and with maximum effectiveness," said Wild.

"The highways in Bucks county are not only the responsibility of the State but also of local communities," said Wild.

Warrington Township Zoning Code was lauded by the planning commission as the only township which has recently adopted a zoning code which included recommendations for changing the present inadequate rights of way and protecting future ones.

"Lower Bucks County," said Bristol industrialist, Harold N. Crooker, planning commissioner, "Is no longer a farm country but now a residential and industrial scene with thousands upon thousands of cars which need a boulevard type highway to get around."

"It takes an hour and 15 minutes to drive from Bristol to Phila. because of the heavy traffic and traffic lights. It is quicker now to use the two bridges across the Delaware and go down the New Jersey side," the Bristol industrialist said.

"Limited access roads are the only basis to reduce traffic for heavy industrial and residential useages," said Wild.

Pearl Leads Delhaas Win Over Bensalem, 8-4, at Terrace Field

Jack Pearl hit two home runs yesterday as Delhaas High won over Bensalem Township High, 8-4, in a Lower Bucks County League tilt on Bristol Terrace field.

Pearl's first circuit clout was a grand slam in the fourth, scoring Larry Katz, Jim Rappo, and George Manley ahead of him. In the following frame, George Manley was on base when Pearl connected for his second round-tripper.

Earlier in the game in the second, Manley socked a two-bagger and crossed the plate when Pearl doubled to center. The latter was out trying to stretch the hit into a triple.

In all, Pearl was responsible for seven of the eight runs, driving in six on his pair of homers and another on his double.

Ken Alston chalked up his fifth mound win of the season. He allowed but five hits which were well scattered. He had 4 strikeouts and walked the same number. Alston has been beaten but once this season, by the championship Neshaminy team.

Dan Faziola was the losing hurler and was tagged for 11 hits. In addition to three by Pearl, Manley and Alston had two each.

Delhaas has won 7 and lost 6 in league competition.

The Hawks moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Bristol Little League by triumphing over V. F. W., 5-4, last evening on the Rohm & Haas field. It was the fifth win of the season for the Hawks.

Joe Bonner, of the Hawks, was robbed of a home run in the fifth by a sensational catch by Kelly, centerfielder for VFW, who made the catch while leaning against the fence.

Good fielding by both teams kept the score down. Bonner was the winning pitcher and the loss went to Qualteria.

Tuesday evening, the V.F.W. boys handed the Giants their fifth straight loss by a 3-2 score. Manzo was the winning twirler with the defeat going to Lewinsky.

imum cost and with maximum effectiveness," said Wild.

"The highways in Bucks county are not only the responsibility of the State but also of local communities," said Wild.

Warrington Township Zoning Code was lauded by the planning commission as the only township which has recently adopted a zoning code which included recommendations for changing the present inadequate rights of way and protecting future ones.

"Lower Bucks County," said Bristol industrialist, Harold N. Crooker, planning commissioner, "Is no longer a farm country but now a residential and industrial scene with thousands upon thousands of cars which need a boulevard type highway to get around."

"It takes an hour and 15 minutes to drive from Bristol to Phila. because of the heavy traffic and traffic lights. It is quicker now to use the two bridges across the Delaware and go down the New Jersey side," the Bristol industrialist said.

"Limited access roads are the only basis to reduce traffic for heavy industrial and residential useages," said Wild.

Pearl Leads Delhaas Win Over Bensalem, 8-4, at Terrace Field

Jack Pearl hit two home runs yesterday as Delhaas High won over Bensalem Township High, 8-4, in a Lower Bucks County League tilt on Bristol Terrace field.

Pearl's first circuit clout was a grand slam in the fourth, scoring Larry Katz, Jim Rappo, and George Manley ahead of him. In the following frame, George Manley was on base when Pearl connected for his second round-tripper.

Earlier in the game in the second, Manley socked a two-bagger and crossed the plate when Pearl doubled to center. The latter was out trying to stretch the hit into a triple.

In all, Pearl was responsible for seven of the eight runs, driving in six on his pair of homers and another on his double.

Ken Alston chalked up his fifth mound win of the season. He allowed but five hits which were well scattered. He had 4 strikeouts and walked the same number. Alston has been beaten but once this season, by the championship Neshaminy team.

Dan Faziola was the losing hurler and was tagged for 11 hits. In addition to three by Pearl, Manley and Alston had two each.

Delhaas has won 7 and lost 6 in league competition.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 55 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

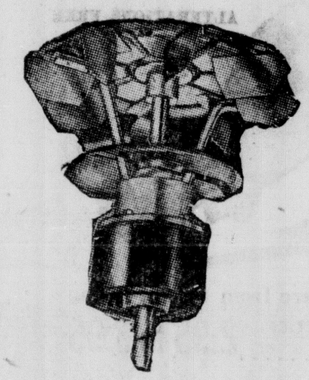
- By the time you come home from work we can have your boiler or furnace converted to oil—so don't delay, do it now. Materials are going to be scarce. GET YOURS NOW.



In a Timken Silent Automatic Wall-Flame Oil Burner there is only ONE moving part—the rotor of the electric motor with its integral oil-distributing tubes and fan. All the "work" done by the burner is done by this single part. Nothing else moves. Nothing else wears. No complicated pressure pump (either high pressure or low pressure) is required to force the fuel oil through a pin-point atomizing nozzle. THE SPARK OF LIFE

By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

The automobile is to the mechanic as the human body is to the doctor. Chemists, bacteriologists, anatomists, etc., are constantly bringing to light knowledge about our bodies that has been unknown heretofore. Members of the various healing professions procure the new knowledge as the discoveries are made. As each mechanic has his particular way of going about repairing a car, so it is with the healing professions. As the ignition and spark is the "life" of your motor, so the nervous system and flow of nerve force is the "life" of your body. The chiropractor adjusts to allow nerve force to flow uninterrupted to all parts of the body so that normal function will be established and health result.

This is the seventh of a series of Chiropractic educational advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday through the courtesy of Dr. James N. Roebuck, Chiropractor, 1806 Farragut Avenue, Bristol, Pa.

THE SPARK OF LIFE
By DR. JAMES N. ROEBUCK

The automobile is to the mechanic as the human body is to the doctor. Chemists, bacteriologists, anatomists, etc., are constantly bringing to light knowledge about our bodies that has been unknown heretofore. Members of the various healing professions procure the new knowledge as the discoveries are made. As each mechanic has his particular way of going about repairing a car, so it is with the healing professions. As the ignition and spark is the "life" of your motor, so the nervous system and flow of nerve force is the "life" of your body. The chiropractor adjusts to allow nerve force to flow uninterrupted to all parts of the body so that normal function will be established and health result.
This is the seventh of a series of Chiropractic educational advertisements appearing in this paper each Thursday through the courtesy of Dr. James N. Roebuck, Chiropractor, 1806 Farragut Avenue, Bristol, Pa.

GARDEN NOTES

By Walter W. Pitzonka, Jr.

For those who are still thinking how they can manage with all this rain, just be thankful it isn't too dry. During the month of May, we had over six inches of precipitation. This, of course, is much to the excess. Within, maybe, two weeks of dry, warm, windy weather we will be wondering if rain will ever arrive.

Along with the moist weather comes several serious problems. Blight, black spot and mildew are very common during such periods. Cool evenings also aid these diseases. Blight of laurel and Rhododendron is prevalent at the present time. Leaf discoloration accompanied with defoliation is a good sign of this. Black Spot is found on several plants and roses. Black spots, which seem to enlarge are definite warnings of this infection. Mildew requires no explanation except to say that curling of the leaves with evidence of powder on top of the leaves are definite proof. Be alert and escape losses due to disease and spray or dust soon. Leaves, once diseased, are always scarred or discolored. Any good fungicide containing fermate or a sulphur compound is successful in combatting fungi.

People lately have asked me if the planting time for shrubs and plants is passed. The answer is an emphatic NO. Usually this time of the year is dry and planting has ceased because of this dryness. This year, without saying, is moist and cool. The ground is unusually cool for this time. Planting of perennials and shrubs is very possible with great success. As a general rule, remember that as long as the ground is moist and cool, planting is desirable. Better take advantage and plant those last few plants or shrubs for this spring.

Hint of the week is to mow your grass down only to about 1½ inches. Lower cutting, although eliminating that extra cutting, also harms your best grass. Longer cutting means that upright grass, which lawn grass is, will continue to grow shading the low prostrate growers such as crabgrass. This plant is an annual grass, being brown during the winters of this area. Crabgrass requires full sun, but if the grass is left long, this weed is shaded to such an extent death to the crabgrass occurs. Seedlings of this pesty weed are starting to appear in the lawns. Treatment with weed killers should begin while the crop is small and is easily killed.

Sow that next planting of corn and beans the beginning of next week for continued picking. Say, by the way, over the week-end, I saw tomatoes ready to turn ripening color — how are yours coming along? Maybe yours are not even planted yet, well if they aren't, plan to do so earlier next year.

This week would be a good time to give your garden a fertilizing to help flower formation or fruit set. Remember a good organic fertilizer is best to prevent burning of the foliage. A good way to tell if your plants need fertilizer is to look at the color. A yellowing of the bottom leaves indicates a lack of nitrogen. Young leaves, when abnormally dark green while stems or older leaves are tinted purple, are a sign of a phosphorus deficiency. A potash deficiency gives the older leaves a scorched appearance on the outer margins. These margins are also crinkled. All these are definite signs of starvation. Look, observe, and be wise about feeding of plant material.

Happy gardening 'til next week when we meet again!
